Wasco County Wraparound

The Wraparound approach is a strengths-based initiative that is formed for and driven by youth and their families. The Wraparound team is formed by the family, youth and their identified natural, informal and community supports. This Wraparound team meets monthly in order to provide care coordination, identify on-going strengths and needs, and design a single plan of care with the youth and family. The Wraparound plan reflects the blending of team members' perspectives, mandates, and resources that address the life domains and system mandates.

Is Wraparound right for me?

Wraparound could be right for you when your youth is involved in two or more systems (school, medical care, DHS, Juvenile Justice, mental health, etc.) and is having difficulty in some of the identified life domains.

A referral to Wraparound will be sent to the Wraparound Care Coordinator and will be reviewed by the Wasco County Referral Committee. Wasco County meets once a month to review referrals.

Once accepted into Wraparound you will be provided with a Wraparound Care Coordinator and have access to a Family Partner and/or a Youth Partner who can orient you to Wraparound and work with you to design your team.
